D902-E-BX versus D905-E-BX I have been able to find out that there is a fair amount of difference between the two engines. It looks like according to the specs the 905 is about 50 lbs heavier and can turn above 3200 RPM's which the 902 cannot. In the Kubota web site on Engines they seem to be really selling how much better the 902 is versus the ...

D902-E-BX versus D905-E-BX It's great that he called you, but it doesn't sound right to me that they get special versions of engines that have an identical part number. Did you ask him exactly what differences there are? Maybe they just take the cream of the crop based on factory engine testing but the specs are correct on the web site.

longevity of bx2200 / BX22 engine ... Kubota uses the D905-E-BX engine. On the specifications it shows that to achieve 540 PTO RPM it is running at 3068 RPM. That seems to me pretty high. If I have to run this little engine at 3000+ RPM to get work done. How long will engine last? (with proper amintenance of course.
